FOREWORD

WITHIN this, your 1950 Indian, we have endeavored to portray student life on the Arkansas State College campus and to capture it in such a manner, that for years to come it may be looked upon as a veritable treasure chest teemed with delightful retrospection of bygone college days. There is nothing more beautiful than a memory, and a yearbook is dedicated to this sole purpose with the object of keeping that memory alive. Effortless units of time and energy have been spent in the process of editing your 1950 Indian, along with the usual pains of being Countless units of time and energy have been spent in the process of editing, printing and engraving the Indian, along with the usual pains of being harassed by punctilious deadlines.

We, the 1950 Indian Staff, have strived to present you with an annual that will reserve a proud space on your bookshelf, and one that will attract more students to our ever-growing Arkansas State College.

in building and painting scenery for the new play "Gladiators," to be presented by the Masquers sometime March. The only requirement: Art students who would like to try their hand at designing stage sets submit their sketches to Mr. Brown, who will be willing to discuss physical requirements for sets with them. Mr. Brown added that he was especially interested in amateur architects anxious to be trained in stage design.

HE familiar figure at left with the "slightly" receding hairline is a man to whom every student looks with a feeling of respect and fellowship; a man who enjoys that sincere admiration which only deeds can command. Through the years we have learned to admire him for his sterling qualities and two of these which have impressed us most are his loyalty and fidelity to the cause of education. To our friend and instructor, Leland W. "Tex" Plunkett, the Indian of 1950 is respectfully dedicated.

Letter From The President . . .

GROWTH is the law of life. State College has grown continuously since its inception in 1909. The demands for educational services have prompted this growth. To meet these demands is the primary objective of the College.

Change is also a law of life. State College is ever attempting to make the desirable adjustments in its educational program to train for good citizenship.

The many students who have received their training at this institution are now spread throughout the nation taking their places as good citizens. And as the graduates of this class go to their respective communities and life work, State College is wishing the very best for each one.

As head of the home economics department, MRS. MARY ROGERS BROWN is the kind of woman all men would like to have around the house. Mrs. Brown has been with the College since 1915, and has taught many a co-ed to bake a cake, and then some.

The dignified looking gentleman in the center photo is DR. PAUL E. COUCH, head of the education and psychology department. An avid sports fan, it is sometimes difficult to tell whether Dr. Couch is spectator or participant. He rarely misses a football practice session.

The ever expanding business administration department is headed by the able DR. CHESTER C. CARROTHERS. In the accompanying photo, Dr. Carrothers is definitely not browsing through a book for the sake of browsing, but in all probability, gathering material for one of his crucial exams.

Coming here in 1947 ROBERT B. (BOB) BLAKESTAD assumed the difficult task of heading the engineers. Aside from being a great guy, Bob can put you up to date on anything with a rivet in it.

DR. RUSSELL H. AUSTIN entered into the service of the College in 1939, and since then has turned out many responsible students in the field of chemistry. With all this talk going on about atom bombs and chain reactions, here's one man who can bring you up to date.

No, that isn't Jascha Heifetz playing the violin, but sometimes it's difficult to tell the difference. An accomplished musician, DR. HAROLD C. MANOR, has headed the music department since 1947, and has been responsible for the delightful musical programs presented on the College campus.

In the center photo, it's quite difficult to determine whether DR. CHARLES R. McCLURE is pulling something out of the file, or affectionately fingering "D" notices. Dr. McClure assumed duties as head of the English department in 1949, and always welcomes a chat on his favorite Shakespearean character, Falstaff.

DR. WARREN W. NEDROW, head of the biology department, has been in the service of the College since 1935. If you've ever wondered what makes you tick, "Doe Ned" would be happy to explain some facts about yourself that even you don't know. Aside from being a biologist, he's sponsor of the Pi Kappa Alpha Fraternity.

An avid camera fan (and a good one too) is DR. HOMER C. HUITT, head of the social science department. Dr. Huitt can put you up to date on world affairs and photography. His quiet unassuming manner has won him many friends on and off the College Campus.

Common belief has it that all farmers make quite a bit of money. This may or may not be true, but DR. DANIEL J. HAYS, head of the agriculture department, has certainly done his share in sending these scientific land tillers out to try and make some of that money.

COLONEL KENNETH S. SWEANY, has headed the military science and tactics department since 1946. Aside from producing fine professional soldiers, Colonel Sweany is sponsor of the Tau Kappa Epsilon Fraternity. This is the Colonel's last year at Arkansas State College.

Athletic Director J. ALBERT "IKE" TOMLINSON is directly responsible for the expansion of the College's physical education department. Since he entered into the service of the College, "Ike" has held the position of football, basketball, and baseball coach at one time or another.

MR. HENRY C. TAYLOR, head of the printing department, has been with the College since 1947. Since Mr. Taylor assumed his duties as head of this department, it has grown to the largest and most complete collegiate press in the South.

Head of the department of modern languages, is DR. DANIEL F. PASMORE. Dr. Pasmore has been in the service of the College for the past twenty years, and has done a magnificent job in teaching this difficult course of study to aspiring young linguists and Arts students.

The student at the oil painting catches a nod of approval from MRS. DANIEL F. PASMORE, head of the College art department. Mrs. Pasmore has been here since 1938, and has done wonders in expanding it to its present size.

Director of Athletics

"THE PHYSICAL EDUCATION and ATHLETIC DEPARTMENT of Arkansas State College is dedicated to the development and coordination of sound minds and bodies. It is our desire to supplement the life of the students by providing wholesome athletics for the student body, fans and alumni. We are vitally interested in the development of men and women, who can take their places in the fields of education and athletics, and bring them to the same high plane which we believe is necessary for the continued growth and development, both mentally and physically, of the citizens of our nation.

It is with these thoughts in mind that we rededicate ourselves to the tasks before us and pledge our utmost to attain these goals.

We cordially invite your interest and support for our program."

Very truly yours,

J. A. Tomlinson

COACH FORREST W. "FROSTY" ENGLAND

Football season has gone roaring into the past adding another brilliant chapter to Arkansas State gridiron history.

The Indians fiercely drove their way through a season of tough breaks to win only four out of nine games, but when the Warriors of State retired from the field of play, win or lose, they always had the satisfaction of having played the game in the spirit of true sportsmanship.

Guided by the superior backfield performances of Joe Shaw, Gene Osselmeier, Carl Greenwald, John McGuire and John Bearden, and backed by such stalwart linemen as Jack Johnson, James Holland, Keith Doane, A. D. Ruyle and Bob Manns, the Indians made their opponents yell "Uncle" more than a few times.

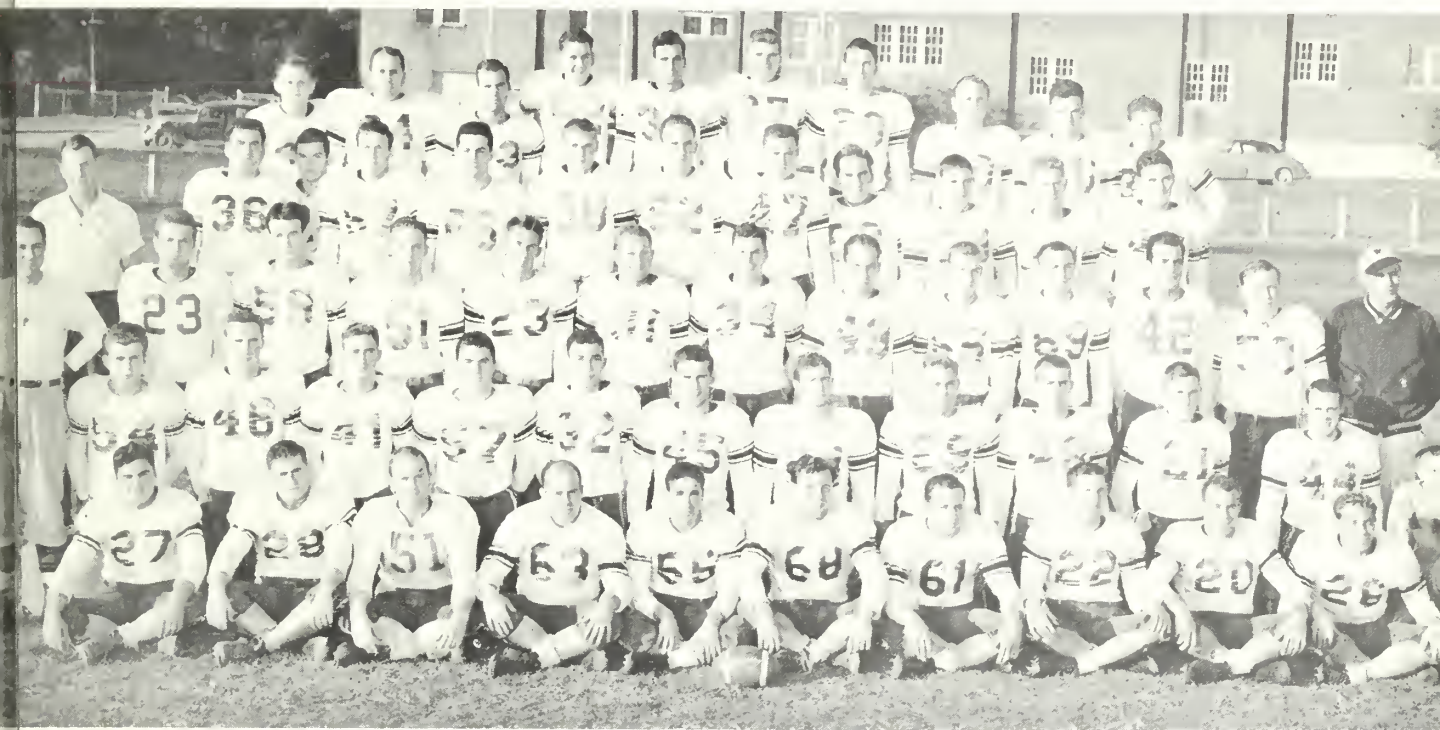

Guard JACK JOHNSON and fullback CARL GREENWALD, voted most valuable lineman and backfield man on the 1949 Indian eleven.

Jack Johnson and Carl Greenwald were voted the most outstanding players at the annual football banquet terminating the 1949 football season. Johnson, a senior, was graduated in January, and Greenwald has two more ripe years ahead of him on the Indian squad. Jack did more than his share in opening seemingly impossible holes in the center of the line for the backs to go marching through. An alert thinker, and a hard hitting lineman, Johnson will be sorely missed on the 1950 Indian squad.

Carl Greenwald was a threat to the opponents with his determined drives for extra yardage. When a first down was badly needed it was Carl who carried the apple through the middle of the line. As long as his shoulders got through the hole, that was all that was needed for that extra yard.

"Molly" McGuire, fleet Indian halfback, issues battle gear to "Jumpin" Joe Shaw, Indian quarterback, at the start of the season.

Arkansas State College's 1949 football squad was ably directed by head coach Forrest W. "Frosty" England. He was aided by assistant coaches John Rauth and Dale Burnett, two men who literally ate, drank and slept football. Countless hours were spent on the mapping of gridiron strategy, and practically every evening after practice, these three coaches experimented with plays on the blackboard.

Keith Doane, right end and captain, was the Tribe's leader on the playing field. With his two years of experience behind him, Doane proved invaluable when it came time for quick decisions.

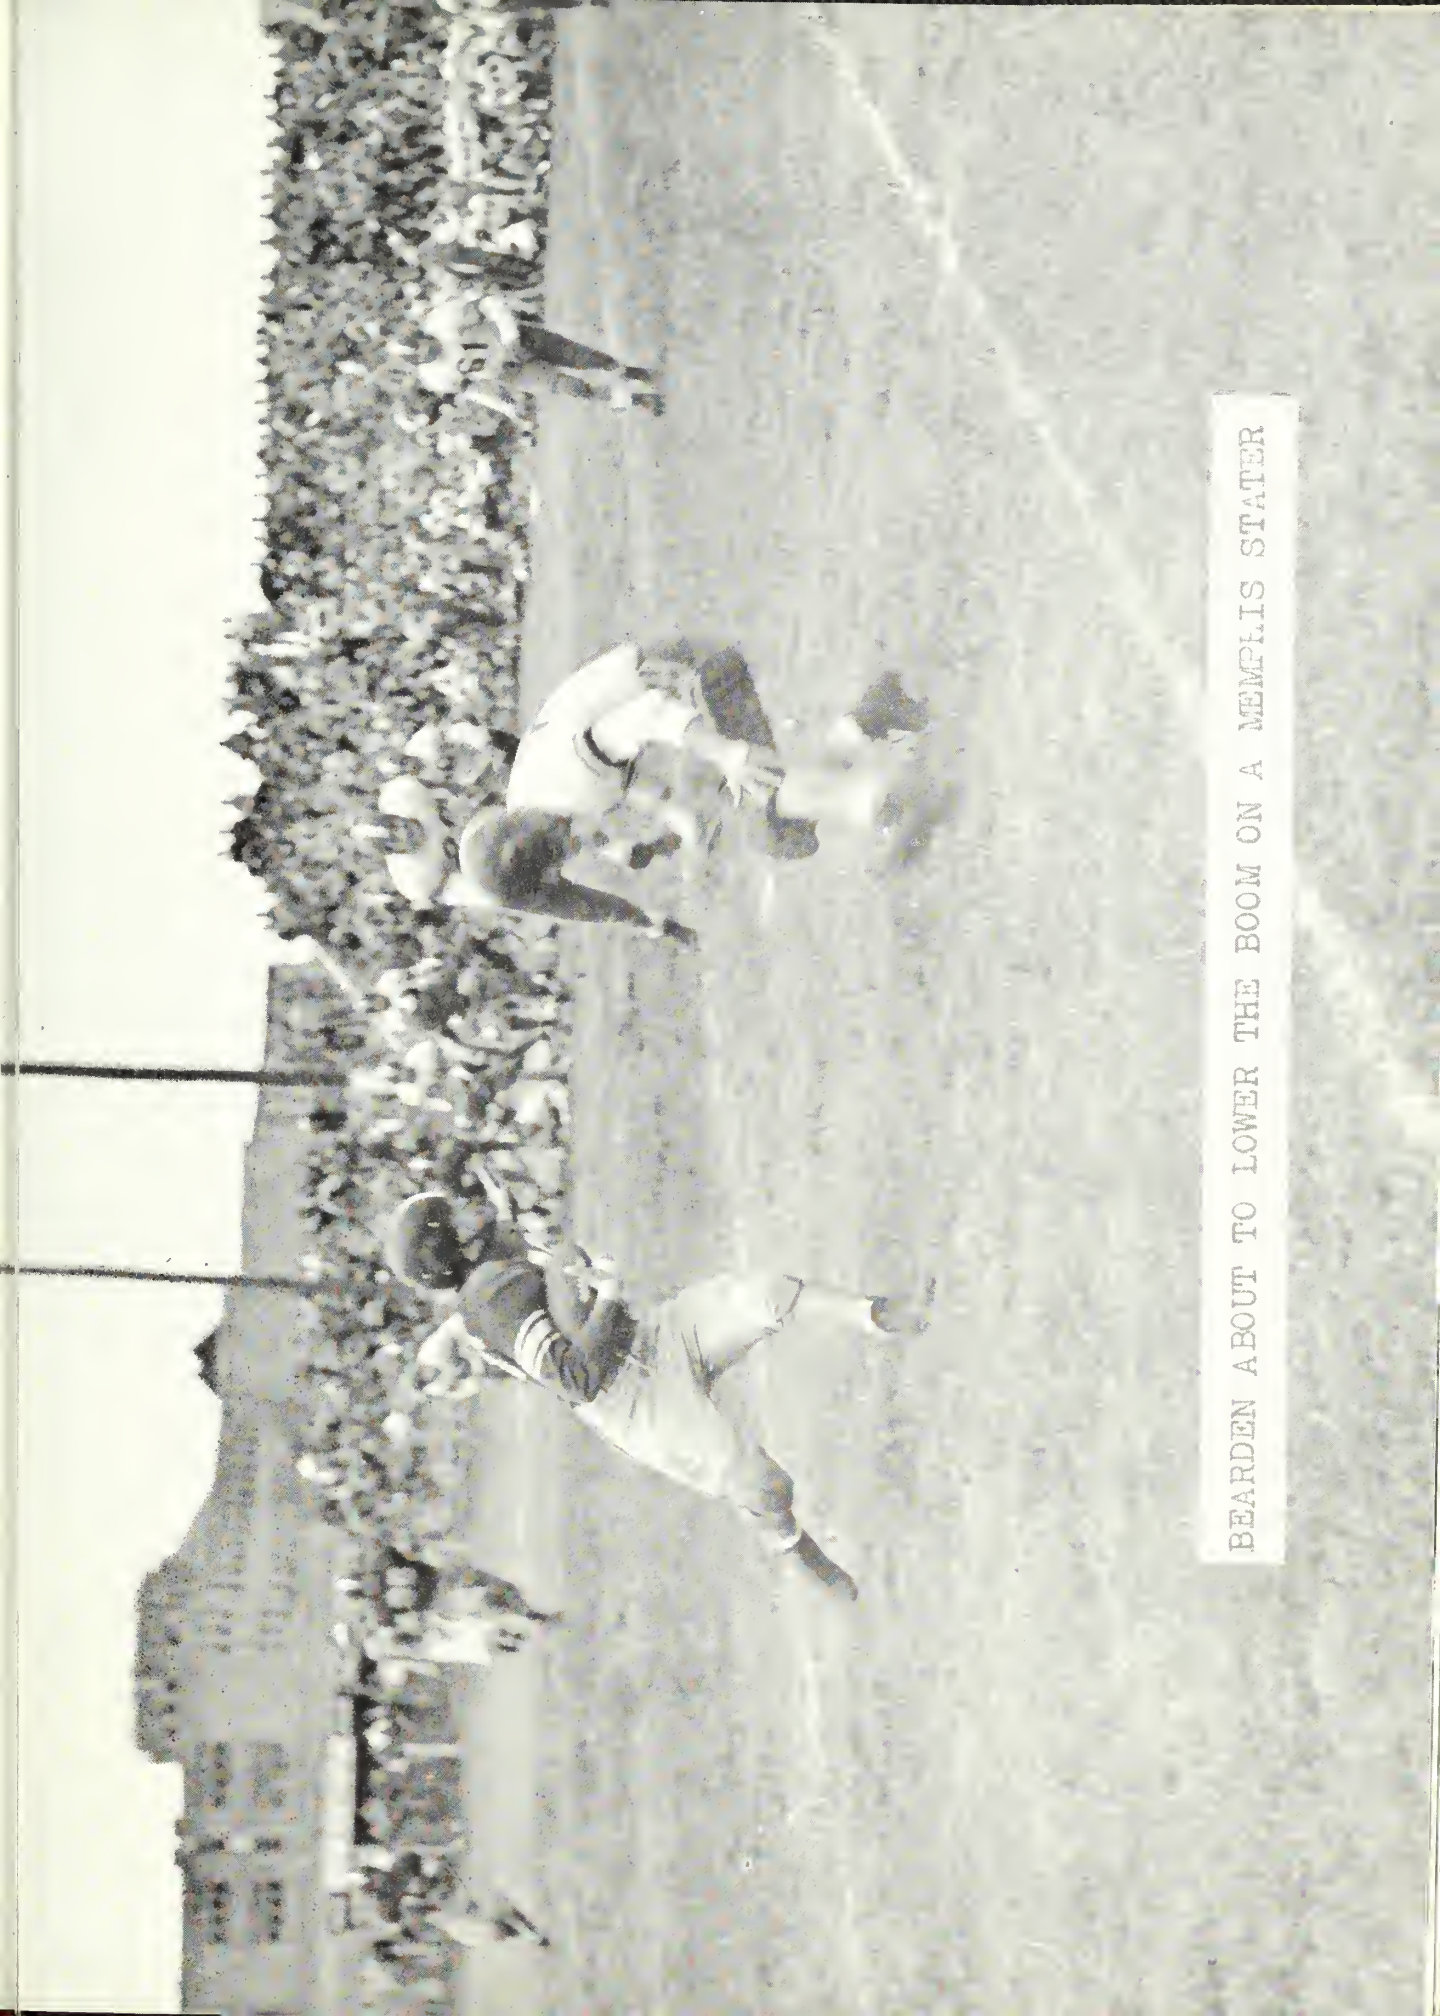

Ace defensive back JOHNNY BEARDEN, checks a potential touchdown threat.

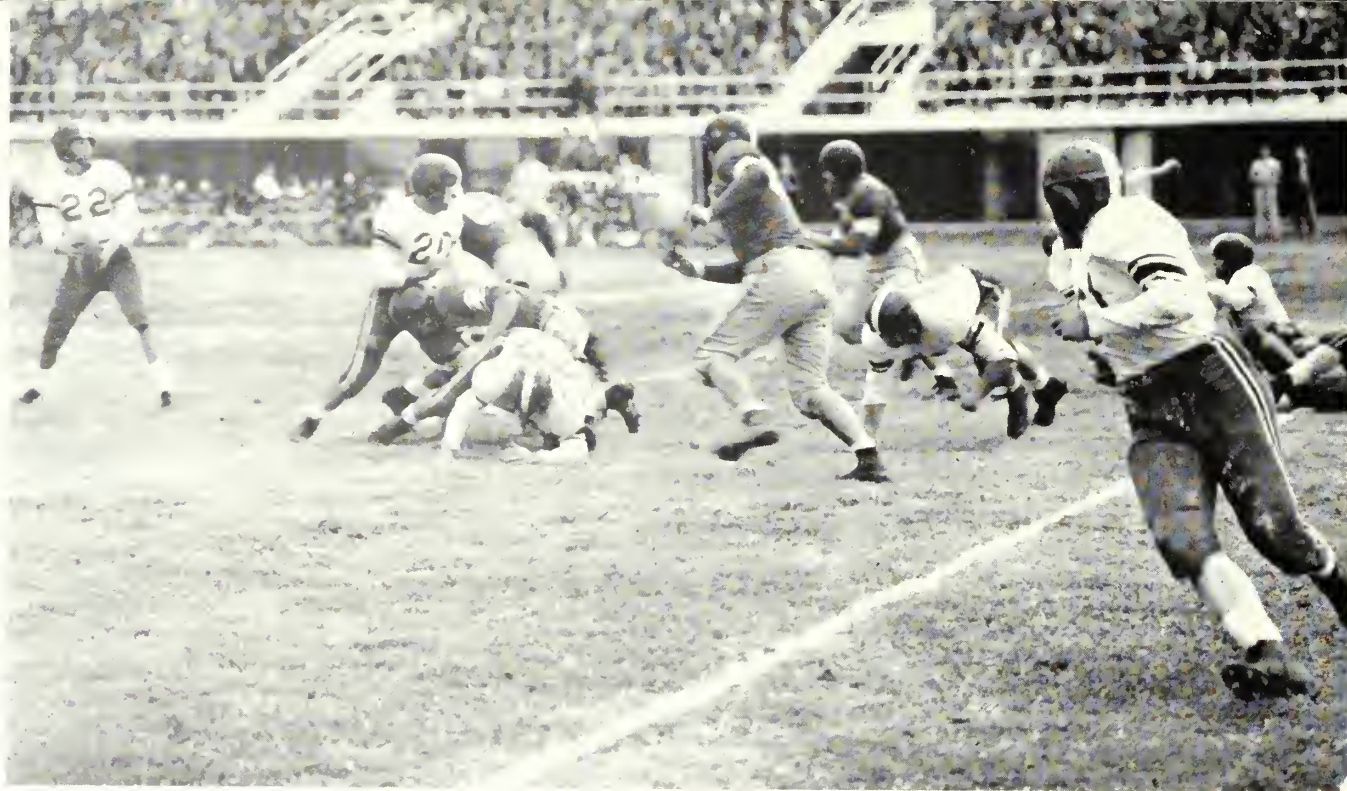

"OSSIE" plows through the middle of the line to pick up a first down.

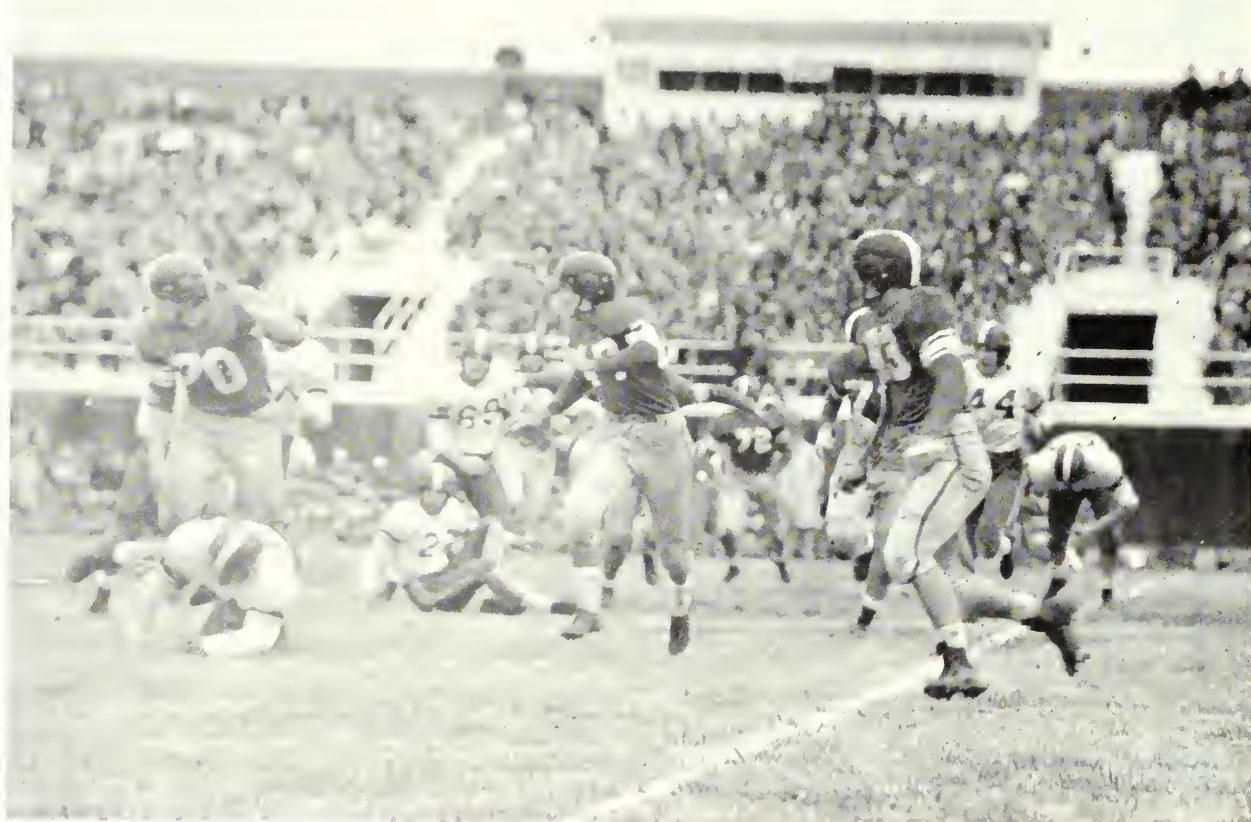

BEARDEN ABOUT TO LOWER THE BOOM ON A MEMPLIS STATER

BOBBY SCOTT fades back to arch a long one to KEITH DOANE. Result: 6 points.

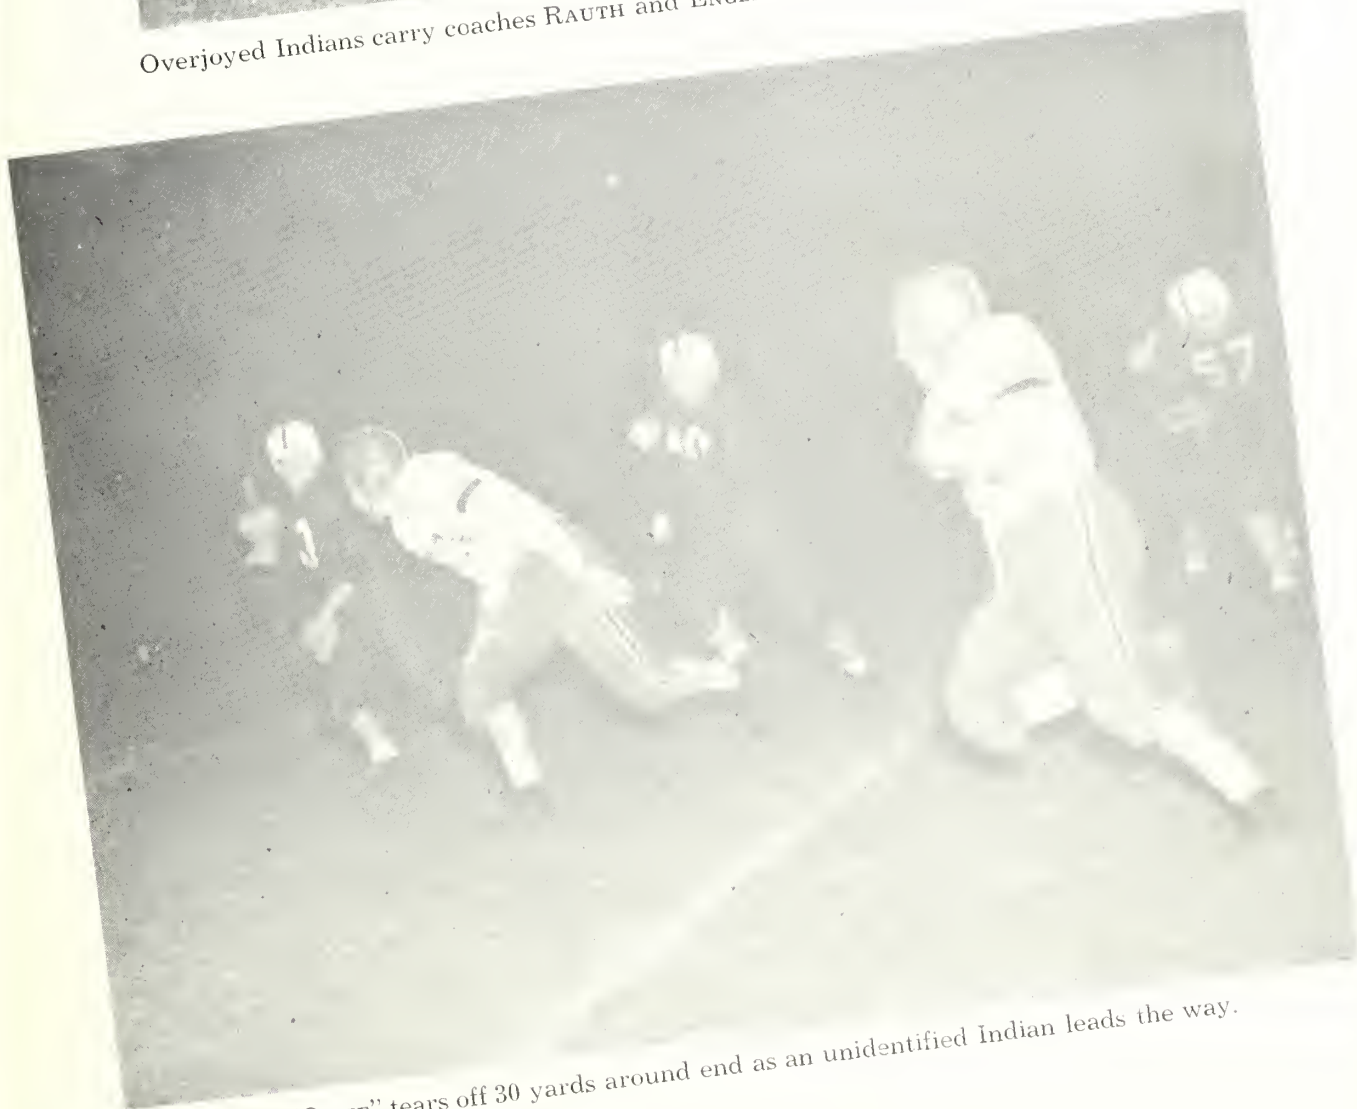

There's a guy comin' around the end, only ya can't see 'im.

Overjoyed Indians carry coaches RAUTH and ENGLAND off the field after the Ouachita victory.

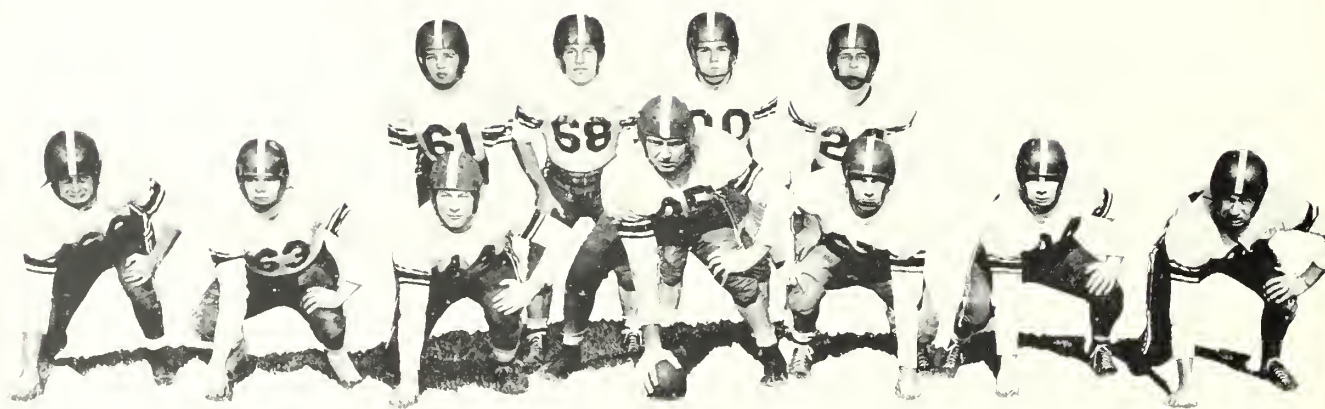

"OSSIE" tears off 30 yards around end as an unidentified Indian leads the way.

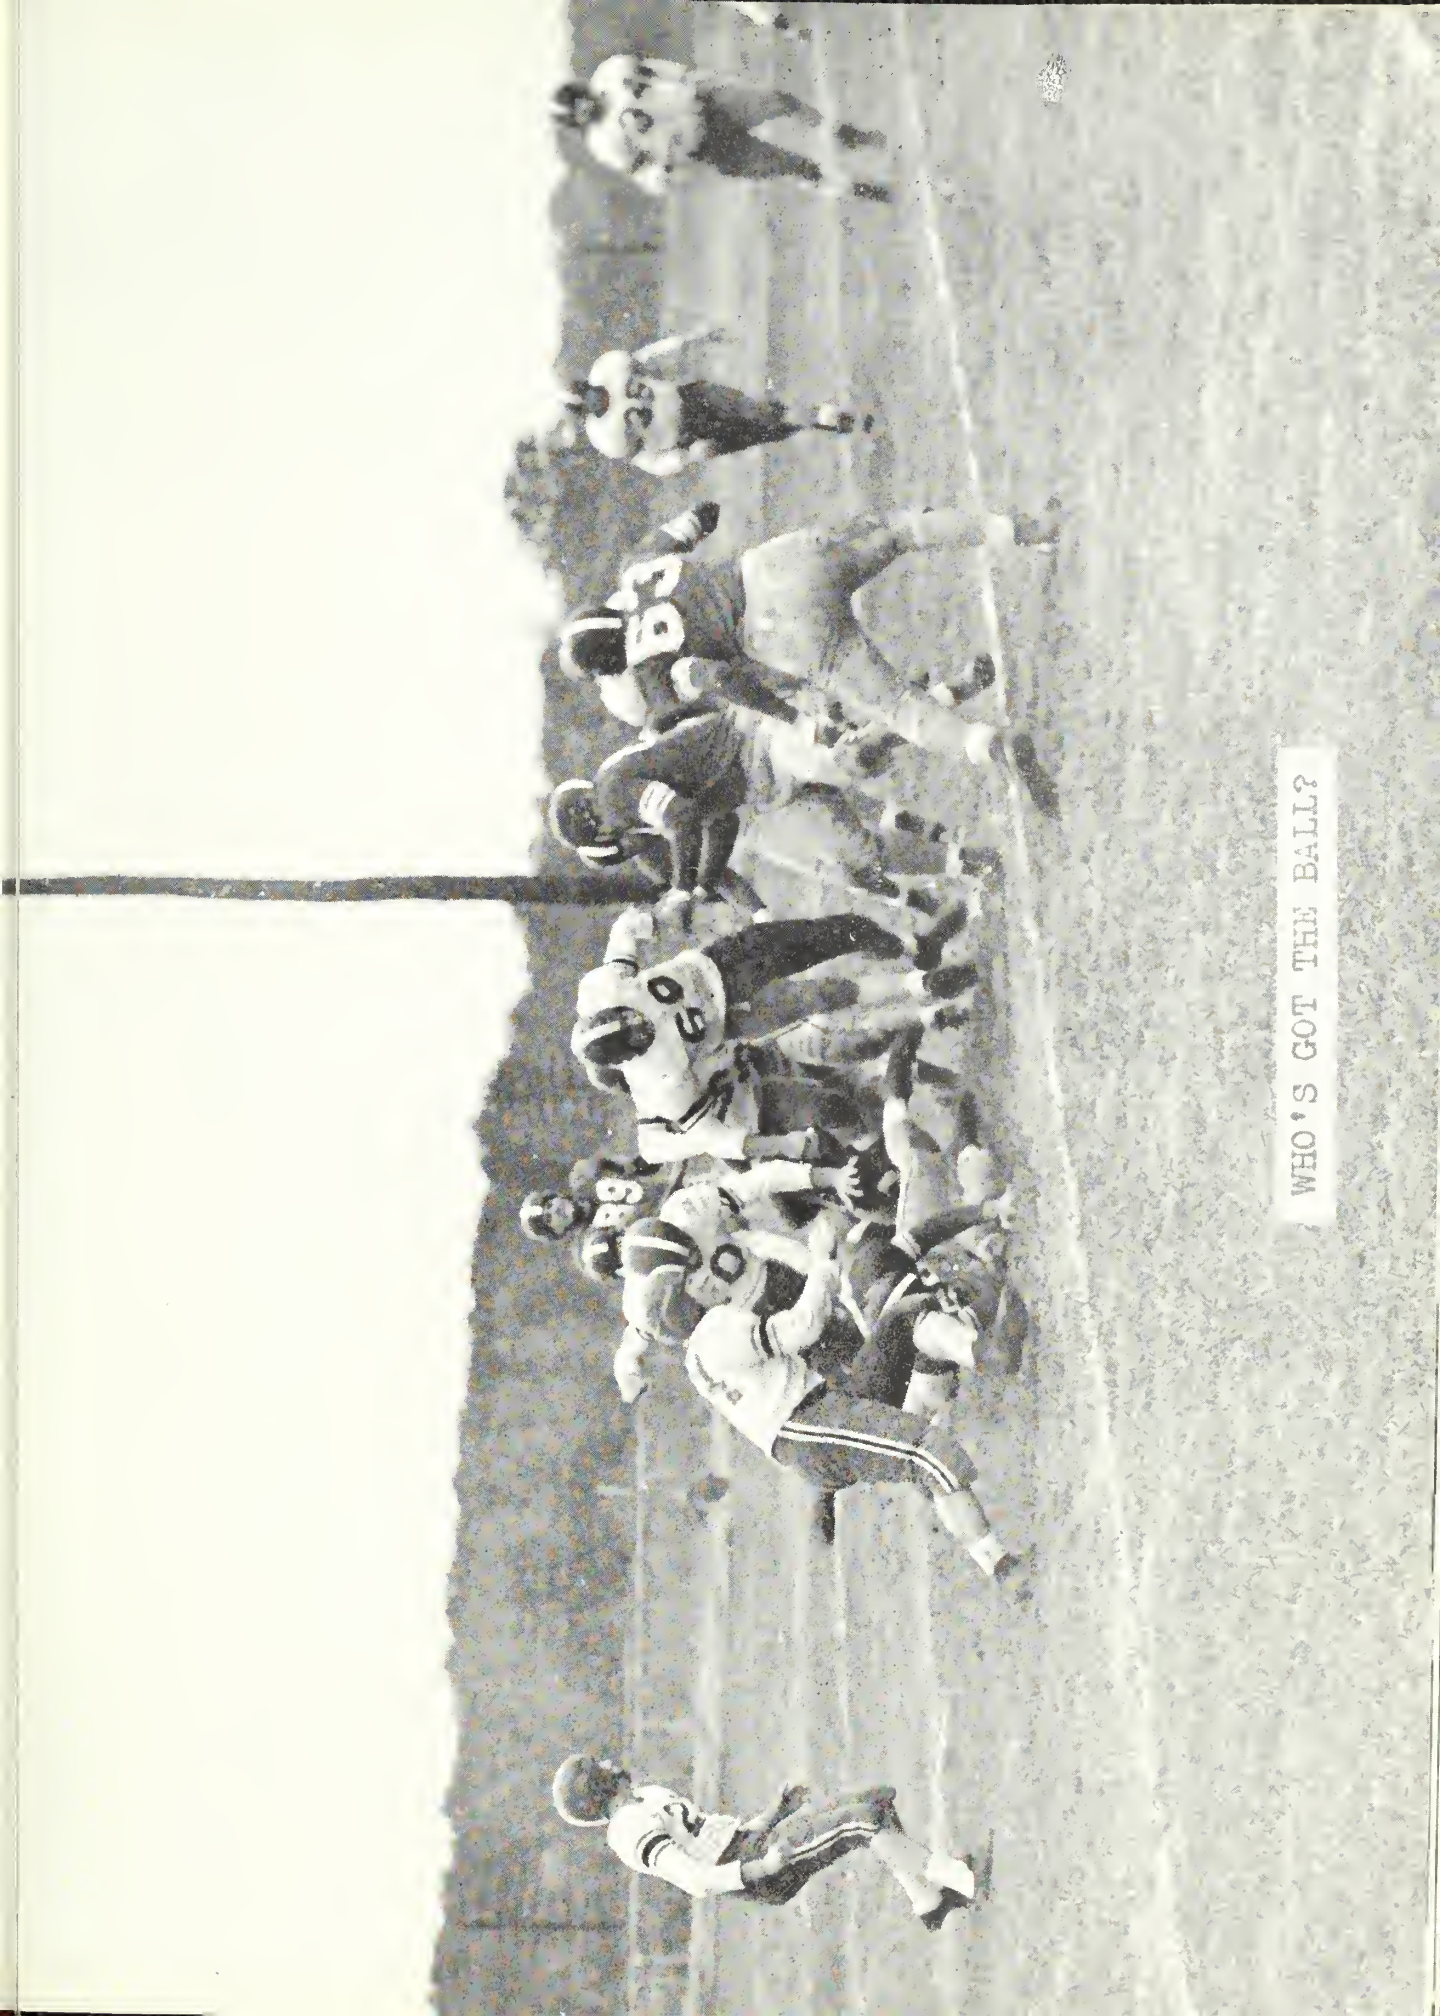

Hey, you in the 14th row. Let's hear you yell!

COACH JOHN RAUTH

This year the 1949-50 cagers were tutored by coach John Rauth. John has only been at State two years and he has already won the admiration and respect of everyone with whom he has come in contact. His tireless enthusiasm has already started him on his way to becoming a tradition. While the team is on the court, John is "sweatin' it out" on the bench; but he works just as hard as the players do when the Indians get in a tight spot.

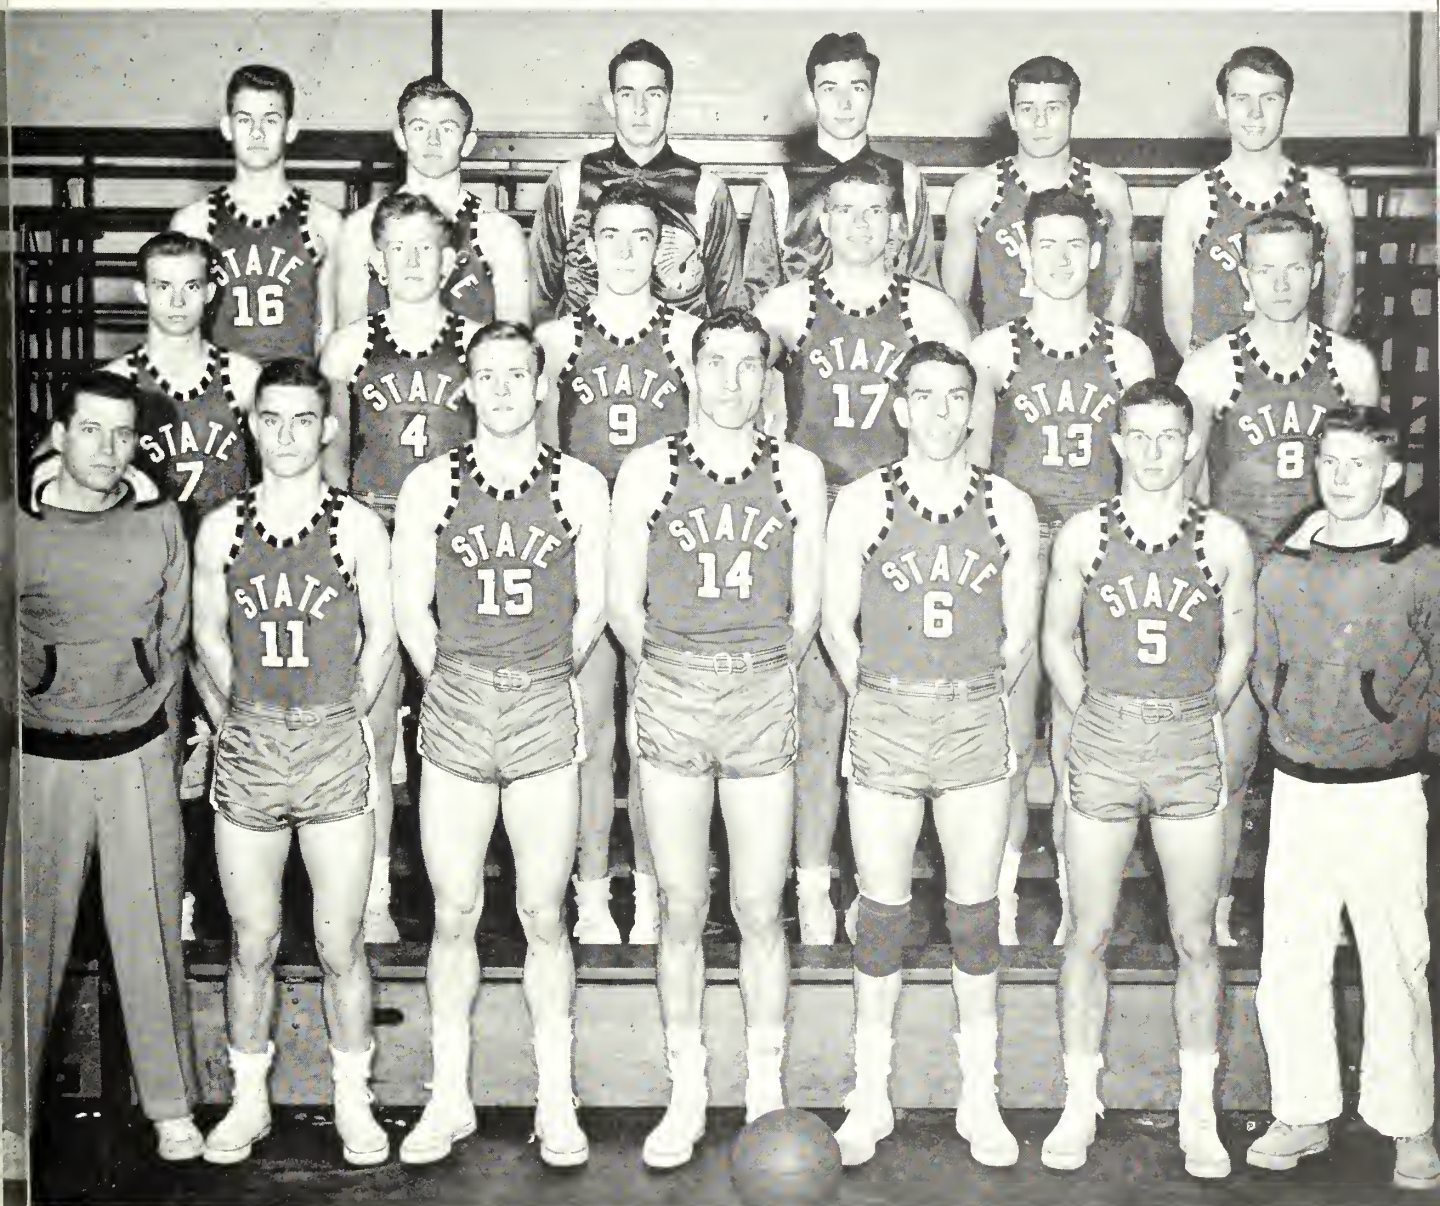

Last year he was the assistant coach under coach Tomlinson, who left the team entirely up to John this year in order to devote more time to his duties as head of the athletic department.

During the past year, the most welcome sight to an ailing Arkansas State College athlete was that of JOE EASON, student trainer. Joe's valuable services will be sorely missed next year, as he will be graduated with the class of '50, and plans to work at attaining a master's degree in physical education. In the above photo, Joe is seen taping one of the many sprained ankles which he has doctored throughout the year. Aside from this, he has treated pulled ligaments, various sprains, and all other types of injuries that befall the athlete.

ASC ORCHESTRA

The ASC orchestra is one of the centers of cultural refinement on the campus. They perform for many college functions, including a recent dramatics presentation and several chapel programs. They also provided accompaniment for the choir in the Spring operetta.

"Any mail today?" It's quite difficult to determine how many times this question has been asked of Mrs. Pearl J. Essary, Mr. Lloyd Walton, and Bob Bowie, pictured in the accompanying photo. They run the State College post office in a most efficient and courteous manner, and never seem to tire of the question. A vital cog in raising student morale, the student body salutes the post office staff.

If the Army used the photo at right in their publicity campaigns, they wouldn't have to draft anyone.

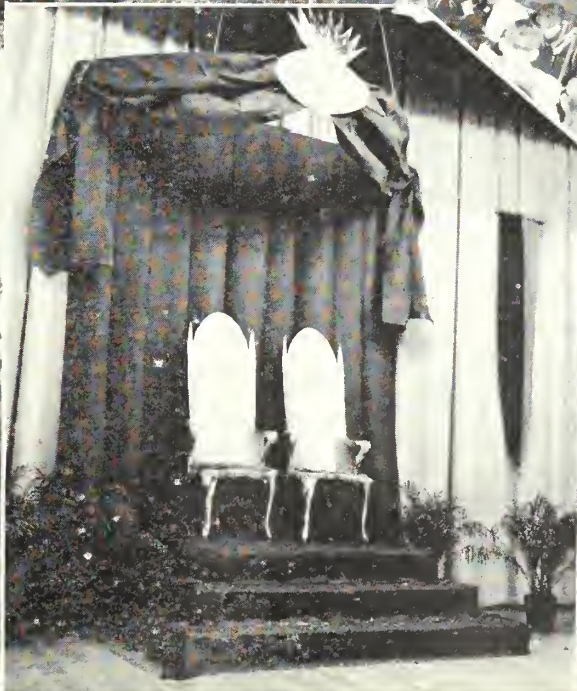

We laughed, we sang, we danced at the largest Homecoming celebration in the history of Arkansas State College. Queen SHIRLEY SWAIM, along with color, crowd, and spectacle, reigned over the day's festivities. The results of the game may not have been all that we wanted, but the Indians provided us with a thrilling afternoon. We finished the day with a dance, where we clowned and cavorted with the Dads and alums, and had a grand and glorious time.

Now is the time for all good men to come to the aid of their party. And the best way to do this is to dig up some dirt for "Chatter".

Apparently everyone is admiring their stories.

Good combination the 'pause that refreshes' and writing headlines.
